Introduction: A Cancer Awareness Program was successfully conducted on 4th October 2025 at Government Degree College, Sector-9, Gurugram, from 9:00 AM to 11:00 AM. The session was organized by the Foundation for Community Development and Health Care in India (FCDHC India) in collaboration with the college administration. The primary objective of the program was to spread awareness among students and faculty members about Breast and Cervical Cancer, focusing on prevention, early detection, and available treatment options.

Program Highlights: The awareness session was graced by Dr. Indu Bansal Aggarwal, a renowned Oncologist and Radiation Specialist, Group Director and HOD at Paras Hospital, Gurugram. Dr. Indu Bansal delivered an engaging and informative lecture on various aspects of breast and cervical cancer, including risk factors, symptoms, importance of regular screening, lifestyle modification, and early diagnosis. She emphasized the need to break the stigma surrounding women's health and encouraged the young audience to become ambassadors of awareness in their communities. The session also included a lecture on other types of cancer—oral, uterine, etc.—with an interactive question-answer segment, where participants actively raised queries regarding preventive health and cancer care.

Attendance and Participation: The program witnessed an enthusiastic response, with around 121 students and staff members in attendance. The participants showed great interest throughout the session and appreciated the valuable insights shared by the expert. From the college side, Dr. Isha Kaushik and Dr. Anjana Sharma efficiently coordinated the event and ensured smooth execution of all arrangements.

Representing FCDHC India, Mr. Mohd Aslam (Regional Coordinator) and Mr. M.K. Rajput (Program Officer) were present to facilitate the program and manage on-ground coordination.

Outcome and Impact: The awareness session proved to be a huge success, significantly enhancing the participants' understanding of cancer prevention and screening. On behalf of students and faculty, Dr. Anjana Sharma and Dr. Isha Kaushik expressed their gratitude to FCDHC India for initiating such a meaningful and informative session. The program reinforced the importance of proactive health behaviour and community-level awareness in combating cancer.

Conclusion: The Cancer Awareness Program held at Government Degree College, Sector-9, Gurugram, was a commendable initiative aimed at promoting preventive health education and awareness. FCDHC India reaffirmed its commitment to advancing community health awareness and implementing capacity-building initiatives in educational institutions. Dr. Neelam Dahiya, Principal of the college, lauded the dedicated efforts of the FCDHC India team and the faculty members for the successful conduct of the program. She emphasized the importance of organizing such awareness sessions at regular intervals to benefit both students and staff members.
